FEDERAL RESEARCH INTSTITUTE DESIGNATES UMES AS REPOSITORY FOR SCIENTIFIC REPORT

The National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) has donated to the University of Maryland - Easton Shore (UMES) reports resulting from $1.5 billion worth of research supported by the Institute since 1963. The university will be a continuing repository for NICHD scientific reports.

Founded in 1886 and located in Princess Anne, Md., UMES is an historically Black institution with an enrollment of 1,200. The agreement with NICHD is in keeping with President Reagan's Black College Initiative directing federal agencies to "significantly increase" the participation of Black colleges and universities in federally sponsored programs.

Attending the informal Dec. 13 ceremony makmarking the official transfer of the collection of scientific publications from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development to the University of Maryland - Eastern Shore were: (standing, left to right) Dr. Stanley T. Rich, executive assistant to the chancellor, UMES; Dr. Milton K. Curry Jr., director of development, UMES; Dr. Thomas E. Malone, National Institutes of Health deputy director; Dr. William P. Hytche, UMES chancellor; Dr. Mortimer B. Lipsett, NICHD director; Mr. Albert Bedell, NICHD technical information officer; Dr. Duane F. Alexander, NICHD deputy director; (seated, left to right) Ms. Jessie C. Smith, director of library services, UMES: Sylvia Jones, NICHD equal employment opportunity officer; and Dr. Joseph Wutoh, associate professor of biology, UMES.

NICHD Director Dr. Mortimer B. Lipsett said the Institute places no restrictions on the collection. Urging UMES to find innovative ways to in crease public use of the collection, he said research results funded with public monies should be made readily available to the public as well as the biomedical community.

97TH CONGRESS ENDS WITH A FLURRY OF LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITY

The 97th Congress ended recently with a flurry of legislative activity which added measurably to its already considerable accomplishments. For the first time since 1976, work has been completed on all major spending bills before the next Congress convenes, allowing the new Congress immediately to tackle other equally pressing issues. Perhaps most important, these spending bills, in the main, comply with the ceilings imposed by the current budget.

This special session of Congress also passed the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982, which the President recently signed into law. The act provides for increased state and local participation in site selection and management. It also mandates the selection of at least two regional high-level waste disposal sites bu 1992.

In its final hours, Congress approved a measure earmarking a five cents a gallon excise tax on gasoline for completion and rehabilitation of our nation's interstate highway system. Urban mass transit systems will also benefit from this program. Washington State may receive as much as $1.50 for every additional dollar it sends to the Highway Trust Fund and Completion of I-90 and other important transportation projects is virtually assured.

Among the most important achievements of the 97th Congress was the progress made toward controlling the federal budget. The Senate Budget Committee played the leading role in this process and my membership on this panel allowed me to make a substantial contribution to the development of the historic budget resolutions produced by this Congress. This was enormously satisfying to me because, as you know, restraining the growth of federal spending has been my top priority since coming to the Senate two years ago.

In the 1982 session of this Congress, President Reagan submitted a fiscal plan, which, despite substantial reductions in the same areas which bore the brunt of last years funding cuts, would have produced record deficits--deficits which would have actually increased over time. The President's proposals were summarily rejected by both houses of Congress.

LOCAL RESIDENTS TO RECEIVE FEDERAL INCOME TAX PACKAGES

Over 1.5 million Washington taxpayers will receive their federal income tax packages within the next two weeks, said Michael J. Quinn, Seattle IRS District Director.

Based on which form they filed last year, taxpayers will receive either the Form 1040 or Form 1040EZ & 1040A package. This year, the 1040EZ containing only 11 lines to complete, has been added to the Form 1040A package. The 1040EX is designed for single taxpayers who have no dependents, whose taxable income is less than $50,000, earned from wages, salaries and tips and no more than $400 in interest. The 1040A form may be used by any taxpayer with taxable income less than $50,000 of wages, tips, unemployment compensation, interest or dividends.

The Form 1040 is for those taxpayers who itemize deductions or claim such tax credits as child care, energy, political contributions and investment credit.

Since filing their tax forms last year, some taxpayers may have had a change in their tax status and need a different form than that received in the mail. Federal tax forms and schedules are available at most post offices, many banks and some public libraries. The most convenient way to obtain additional forms is by using the handy order blank in the tax forms package.

Each tax forms package contains complete instructions on the preparation of the form in the package. In addition, the IRS offers more than 90 free publications on many more subjects. These publications are available by using the order form in the tax forms package.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the annual March of Dimes will be held in every community in Washington State and throughout the United States during the month of January, 1983; and

WHEREAS, the goal of the March of Dimes is to provide a special kind of freedom for tomorrow's children -- freedom from the suffering and the tragedy of birth defects; and

WHEREAS, every year, more than 250,000 American babies are born with some type of serious defect, which is one in every twelve live births; and

WHEREAS, birth defects are implicated in half the deaths of preschool children and are responsible for almost two-fifths of the deaths of elementary school youngsters; and

WHEREAS, through education and early perinatal care, the effect of birth defects can be greatly minimized; and

WHEREAS, the March of Dimes continues to invest heavily in the future of America by supporting research -- more than 100 research and care centers throughout the United States are sponsored by the March of Dimes; and

WHEREAS, the center at the University of Washington has achieved worldwide recognition for its research in the prevention and treatment of birth defects; and

WHEREAS, all of those activities are made possible by the 39 county chapters of the March of Dimes in the state of Washington, whose volunteer members contribute their time, talents, and effort, and by the generosity of all the people of the state of Washington who give to the March of Dimes;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John Spellman, Governor of the state of Washington, do hereby proclaim January, 1983, as in Washington State, and I applaud the outstanding contributions being made by our citizens to help ensure a healthy beginning for each child.

Signed, this 21st day of December, 1982.
Governor John Spellman

UNITED WAY OF PIERCE COUNTY

Brian F. Dammeier, president of United Way of Pierce County, today announced that qualified, non-profit, social service agencies interested in receiving funding in 1984 must submit a letter of intent to apply for membership and support by 5:00 p.m. on January 14, 1983, and must submit applications for funding to the United Way office by 5:00 p.m. on January 26, 1983. Applications must meet both deadlines.

Agency admissions packets are available at the United Way office at 734 Broadway in Tacoma. According to Dammeier, the admissions packets include an explanation of the United Ways' citizen review process; a list of technical qualifications required of applicant agencies; a list of United Way's current funding priorities; instructions for completing applications and budget forms; and the admissions request for funding.

"INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS

Tacoma Public Library will host a free program on "Individual Retirement Accounts" on Wednesday, January 18 at 7 pm. The program will be held at the McCormick Branch Library, located at 3722 North 26th Street, near the Procter shopping district.

Ms. Jane Richards, Branch Manager of United Mutual Savings Bank, will present an overview of the IRA concept, and will answer specific questions from the audience.

For more information, call McCormick Branch at 591-5640.

TACOMA PUBLIC LIBRARY

Tacoma Public Library will host free Home Energy programs during the month of January at several branch locations. Conducted by the Tacoma-Pierce County Energy Information Office and the Pierce County Cooperative Extension Agency, these programs will feature low-cost methods of conserving energy.

A complete description of programs can be obtained from any Tacoma Public Library branch, or by calling 591-5666.

RESEARCH, NETWORKING ARE MEETING TOPICS

The University Place Chapter of Northwest Gifted Child Association invites all interested parents to its monthly meetings (not for UP parents only!); next meeting is Tuesday, January 18, 7:30 pm, Curtis Junior High Library. Featured speakers will be Dr. Barry Anton, speaking on research about gifted children, and Dr. Jayasri Ghosh, who will discuss the need for parents to take advantage of a variety of opportunities for their children in the community, and highlight some of the available programs in Pierce County.

POOR HURT BY CDBG PROGRAM

National Urban League Vice President Maudine R. Cooper has told a House Subcommittee that proposed new regulations for the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program could hurt low-income persons and urban dwellers.

The regulations would no longer require the majority of program funds to be spent on projects that aid the poor or moderate income families.

"By refusing to review whether a locality's program benefits low and moderate income persons, HUD is rejecting its mandate to assure that the primary objective of the program was achieved and the money was used as dictated," she said.

She said "it is essential to keep in place, programs such as the CDBG which are devised to help the low income."

WASHINGTON STATE MEDICAID WAIVER APPROVED BY FEDS

Bernanrd E. Kelly, Regional Director for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in Seattle, today released the attached letter from Secretary Schweiker to Governor Spellman. The letter gives the Department's approval to a requested waiver of Medicaid regulations.

The waiver will permit the State of Washington, for the first time, to use federal health funds for certain nonhealth care services to meet the needs of Medicaid recipients. This waiver will provide certain elderly and disabled persons an alternative to institutionalization by providing supportive health and social services at home.

In releasing the letter, Kelly stated, "I join Secretary Schweiker in congratulating Governor Spellman and the Washington State Department of Social and Health Services. By providing a variety of less costly quality services such as chore services, the State and the Federal Government will benefit from the cost savings and eligible residents will have an opportunity to remain in their homes as long as possible. In taking advantage of this new flexible approach to service delivery, the State of Washington has demonstrated a genuine concern for the needs of its citizens to live at their highest level of independence.

PATH PRESS

Path Press, Inc., a Chicago-based Black book publishing company, today announced the signing of four well-known writers whose books will lead the list of the company's 1983 publications.

The writers who have reached contractual agreement with Path Press and the titles of their books are as follows: John Oliver Killens, Great Black Russian; Philip G. Smith, A Generation of Black Mayors; Enoch P. Waters, American Diary; and Herman Cromwell Gilbert, The Negotiations.

The Negotiations and American Diary will head the publishing company's spring/summer list while Great Black Russian and A Generation of Black Mayors will head the fall/winter list.

In making the announcement, Bennett J. Johnson, president of Path Press, stated: "We are convinced that the books we have selected and the track records of their authors will make our re-entry into the publishing field a resounding success. All four of the books we are announcing today have best-seller potential."

Path Press was first established in 1969 and published two books before ceasing operation. According to Johnson this was due to the inability of the company's founders to give full time to the venture.

RODNEY CLARK

The Hornets were the team to beat in the post season tournament. Dwayne Hill, Jessie Williams and Malone Boyd were the standouts for the 6th graders. The 76ers dominated each team they played.

Coach Jimmy Ervin said, "We started slow, but as the tournament continued our boys were improving enormously. We play Woods Barber Shop at home next week and we should prove that we can handle Woods once and for all. Our guys are pumped up and ready to give Woods a taste of "agony and defeat!" The 76ers will face Woods Barber Shop 11:00 AM. Saturday at Al Davies Boys Club.

Any boys and girls in the 1st and 2nd grades interested in playing basketball, please sign up at the club as soon as possible.

Play dates have been set for the Drama Departments new play, "Good Times" is a black situation comedy that has been televised throughout the United States. This play gives many lower class black families an insight to the way many families are struggling to make ends meet at the present day and time.

"Good Times" stars Phyllis Harris, Darryl - "Bubba" Dixon, Brett Hampton, Olivia DeCoursey, Terresa Moore, Curtis Dudley and Joylan Netter.

The director of the show is yours truly. For more information, call 383-2731, EXT # 27.

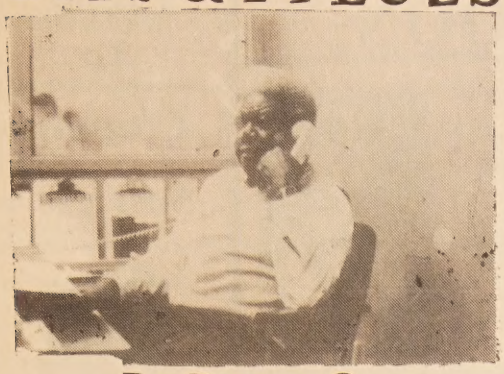
BITS & PIECES



By Roger O.

COMMENTS: Things are bad, but not that bad. For the last two months, I have been pleading with parents, guardians, relatives, friends, the Ministerial Alliance, churches, organizations, and businesses to give their son, daughter, relatives, or just some needy child a $7.00 membership in the Al Davies Boys Club.

So far, much of my pleas have fallen upon deaf ears. When these young people are left with nothing to do they are prone to get into trouble and the results could cost a lot more than $7.00, and who wants to assume the responsibility of wasting young lives? You can pay the Al Davies Boys - Club now, or pay an attorney later. I have no children of the boys club age, but I pledge to buy some kid a membership each month.

My reason for buying a membership is that I CARE DO YOU? If you do--care that is--call 383-2731, extension #26 between 1:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. - Monday thru Friday, and between 10:00 am. and 4:00 pm. on Saturdays.

We are looking for guardians. Some kids are lonely and need a big brother or someone to look up to. Our program staff works long, hard hours to try and bring the membership quality together and balance programs. We are not crying, but we care. You could make a great difference.

ALUMNI: If you are a former club member, then the Al Davies Boys Club is your home. The club wants you to come back home, The Al Davies Boys Club is a far cry from the Downtown Boys Club on 25th & Yakima.

This club represents your blood, sweat, and tears. Young people need someone to look up to, especially a role model from their peers, so come join us in the Alumni Association Movement. On Monday, January 17th, at 7:00 PM., at the Al-Davies Boys Club located on 17th & Grant Street. I challenge the entire Readymade Family Band to join. Call 383-2731, EXT # 26.

The Freighthouse Theatre will be holding auditions for its sixth series of play on January 9th and 10th. For further information 272-5556.

MDC PUTS ITS MONEY WHERE ITS PURPOSE IS

The Metropolitan Development Council is moving affirmatively to support investment institutions which are owned and operated by women and ethnic minorities.

During the past week $130,000 has been invested through the Sound Savings and Loan owned and operated by women and the Tacoma Ministerial Alliance Credit Union owned and operated by and for the Tacoma-Pierce County minority community.

It is the policy of the Metropolitan Development Council to encourage these institutions because they meet the legitimate needs of the people through their sensitivity and close communications with the segments of the community they serve. MDC encourages other public and service agencies and organizations in the area to carry out their purpose by investing their funding in these institutions. Because all public funds deposited in these institutions is insured, there is no reason why the agencies and organizations of Pierce County shouldn't get behine this effort.

FOSS GIRLS BASKETBALL UNDERCLASSMAN TALENT AT ITS BEST
By Freddy Hembry

Last Tuesday, Dec. 28, 1982, I was afforded the opportunity of seeing a Foss girls Junior Varsity and Varsity basketball game. The J.V. team had a good show of fresh talent and some of the girls may go farther in the sport of basketball; but what sent me reeling in surprise, and through enjoyment was the girls varsity team coached by James Black.

There are four girls in particular whom one might consider the core of the team. These are: Yevette Thomas, Collete Stewart, Trudy Williams, and Dorthy Holland. These girls are not only good, but are just juniors in high school! These four girls when playing together have a tightly knit, unified game.

With occasional assists from sophomores Perry Grogan, and Anita Bates, the Foss Falcon girls brought the Lake Lancers girls team tumbling down to there feet with a 60 to 40 victory. Thoma Thomas and Stewart made good passes using the "back door technique" quite often, and effectively.

Holland and Williams seemed to make good use of there above average fundamental talents in shooting good precentage shots, also using great "inside moves".

The four girls scores went as such: Thomas; 20, Stewart; 9, Williams; 11, and Holland; 8. The Falcon girls team has a record of seven wins, and two losses at this point and have only lost to Rodgers of Puyallup and Gig Harbor High School.

I have a better than good notion that this group of young budding talent will go very far this season, and with all of this year's team returning next season, they most undoubtedly will dominate any league next season.

TCC PLANS SUMMER NORTHWEST GEOLOGY TOUR

The majestic National Parks of the Western United States and Canada will provide the study material in a special three-week geology study-tour offered this summer by Tacoma Community College. Participants can earn 15 college credits in geology and geography during the tour, June 13-July 2.

Students will travel through time, studying the geological make-up and history of the Western U.S. and Canada. Included are stops at North Cascade, Banff, Jasper, Waterton Lakes, Glacier, Grand Tetons and Yellowstone National Parks. Host/instructor for the tour is noted geologist and vulcanologist, Dr. Jack Hyde.

Estimated cost for the tour, including tuition, transportation, food and camping is $420 per person. The tour will be preceded by orientation sessions on campus. For registration information contact Dr. Jack Hyde at 756-5060.

TCC CHILD CARE CENTER PARTICIPATING IN USDA PROGRAM

Providing nutritious meals and snacks for children is the goal of a United States Department of Agriculture Child Care Food Program under way at the Tacoma Community College Child Care Center.

Parents' income determines the amount of money the USDA will reimburse the college to provide meals to enrolled children.

Housed in a new building on the TCC campus and licensed by the State, the center involves children 2½ through 8 years of age in a comprehensive program of activities. Tuition is on a sliding fee scale based on parents' income. Services of the center are available to children of all TCC students, faculty and staff.

For information call 756-5099.

PSALM 139

O LORD, thou hast searched me, and known me.

Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, thou understandest my thought afar off.

Thou compassest my path and my lying down, and art aquainted with all my ways.

For there is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O LORD, thou knowest it altogether.

Thou hast beset me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me.

Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it.

Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there.

If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost pasts of the sea;

Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me.

If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mother's womb.

I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well.

My substance was hid from thee, when I was made in secret, and curiously wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.

Thine eyes did see my substance, yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned when as yet there was none of them.

How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the sum of them!

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

A FRESH START IN 1983
By John E. Jacob

I know of no reputable observer who foresees an end to the enormous troubles afflicting our economy in 1983. All the talk about "recovery" suggests a very limited upturn may take place, hardly enough to get the jobless back to work or to slice much off the incredibly high black unemployment and poverty rates.

So 1983 will have to be the year when the slowly gathering strength of the coalition for a more just society brings maximum pressure to create jobs, and as important, to make sure those jobs go to the long-term unemployed and to the minority communities for whom the Depression has been virtually permanent, not just a matter of a bad couple of year.

With a significant revival of the private sector nowhere in sight that means a massive federal job creation program. But limited plans for new jobs to repair highways and the crumbling infrastructure don't qualify. They are too limited, barely making a dent in unemployment.

Despite the token aspect of those plans, we are already hearing objections to them. It is said they are too costly at a time of huge budget deficits. Yes, they do cost a little. But that huge military budget can be cut to accommodate them.

Anyway, we sould not confuse costs and investments. Creating jobs through infrastructure repair and providing services is an investment in a tax-paying labor force. The real cost comes from unemployment--for each one percent rise in unemployment the nation loses almost $100 billion in lost production, lost taxes and higher social spending.

Critics say federal job creation programs take too long to get started. By the time they are in operation, the economy is recovering and the new impetus just adds to inflation. Well, that shouldn't concern us now. There's so much slack in the economy that there is no way inflationary pressures will be reignited soon--a third of our industrial capacity is dormant.

As for the time lag until they start up, that depends. Those terrible New Dealers we hear so much about these days managed to put four million people to work repairing roads and building public works in just two months back in 1933.

Surely a business-oriented Administration can find the managerial talent to match that record. And public works are more than dams or bridges that take years to plan. An infrastructure repair program could get under way immediately.

But one thing we will have to guard against in 1933 is the tendency to carve up that pitifully small job creation pie is such a way that the parts of the nation most impacted by unemployment get less than their share, and that the long-term jobless lose out to temporarily unemployed highly skilled workers.

Politicizing public works programs inevitably leads to that kind of unfairness. In contrast to the old CETA program, in which local government put people to work providing necessary public services under federal rules and regulations, there may be no safeguards to ensure that the poor and the deprived get the newly created jobs.

By dismantling the CETA structure in the midst of a recession, Congress and the Administration deprived the nation not only of a useful program, but also of a mechanism for emergency job-creation that was already in place and had already been purged of whatever abuses and inefficiencies that had plagued it in its beginnings.

That was a terrible mistake made by people who thought there would never again be a need for government job creation efforts. Now, just a few months later, they are floundering about because they tore apart the only functioning program suited to today's needs.

That argues for the necessity of a permanent federal job creation and training structure, something that is not subject to the year-by-year whims of political leaders. A Universal Employment and Training program that guarantees jobs and skills training opportunities for all the jobless, utilizing the resouces of the private sector, the schools and other institutions, should be our goal for 1983.

U.S. SENATOR PAULA HAWKINS:
Biographical Profile

Concerned that this nation's drug abuse problems have reached epidemic proportions, U.S. Senator Paula Hawkins (R-Florida) recently formed the Senate Drug Enforcement Caucus.

The goals of this caucus, which has 21 Senate members, include establishing drug enforcement as a Senate priority, educating Senators and staff on the national problem of drug abuse, and serving as a clearinghouse for legislative and administrative proposals to address this issue.

Concern over the problem of drug abuse is only one of many public service activities Senator Hawkins has been involved in since her election to the United States Senate in 1980.

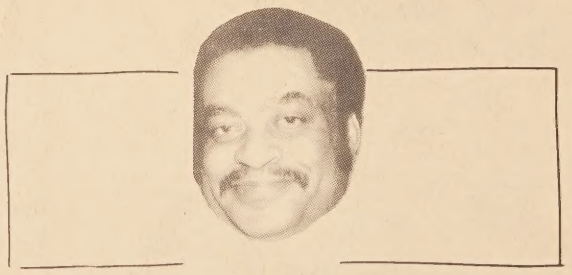
A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, Senator Hawkins and her family moved to Florida 25 years ago, where she became active in public service at the community level. In 1972, she won statewide election to the Florida Public Service Commission, where she served two terms and earned an unparalleled reputation as a fighter for Florida's citizens.

The first women Florida has sent to the U.S. Senate, Mrs. Hawkins serves on three committees--Agriculture, Labor and Human Resources, and the Joint Economic Committee--and nine subcommittees, two of which she chairs.

Active in the Republican Party, Senator Hawkins has served as Vice Chairman of the Republican National Committee and continues in the position of National Committeewoman from Florida. In 1981, she was named Woman of the Year by the Women's National Republican Club.

She and her husband, Gene, reside in the Winter Park, Fla. They have three children.

THE APOSTLE SPEAKS



THE NATURAL LIKENESS OF JESUS PART 2

Being a natural decendent of the Tribe of Judah and the root of David, David being the father of Solomon. Solomon also was a offspring of David being his son.

These are the quotations from Solomon: I am Black, but comely, O ye daughters of Jerusalem, as the tents of Kedar, as the curtains of Solomon.

Look not upon me, because I am black, because the sun hath looked upon me: my mother's children were angry with me; they made me the keeper of the vineyards; but mine own vineyard have I not kept.

THE SONGS OF SOLOMON CHAPTER 1 VS. 5& 6.

It is the evidentual fact that the sun darkens people of color. It is also a evidentual fact, due to the pigmentation of the skin of darker people. They're able to obsorb more sunlight than lighter complexted people, but thereforth they also get darker. Because of the sun in Solomons case, he became as other natural blood line followed down through the generations even to our Lord Jesus - Christ which therefore made him the son of man with a natural likeness of dark color.

As we have stated previously in our series, he not only had likeness of color, but his hair was not of the refine quality of the other tribes of Israel but his hair was course even as pure wool according to the book of Daniel Chapter 7, Verse 9.

I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and the Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire.

IT WAS A DARK AND STORMY NIGHT . . .

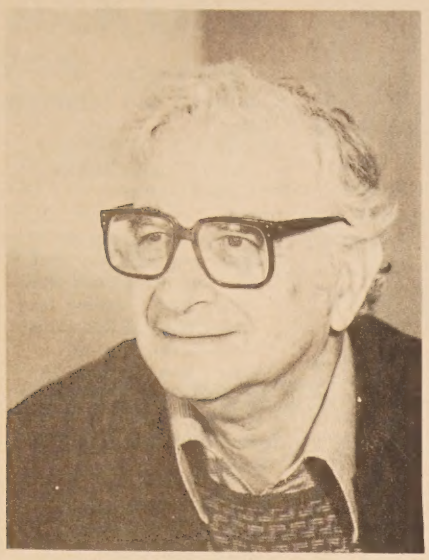
IN MEMORIAM



SALI LIEBERMAN 1912-1982

Sali is someone who will be missed throughout the entire community, he will be missed especially at Bread & Roses for the contributions he made toward developing and maintaining our philosophy.

He was with us from the start serving as the First Board of Director chairperson, hosting our First Benefit Concert at Davood's Restaurant, singing Rita Abrams parodies at the Mill Valley Talent show (another benefit for Bread & Roses) and so it went for eight years.

Sali Lieberman, founder and director of the Mill Valley Center for Performing Arts knew the significance of art in our culture and enjoyed working hard to cultivate its importance.

He worked equally hard for human rights, his devotion to these two aspects of life made him one of the finest board members we could ever have.

"BUSINESS OF WRITING" HIGHLIGHTS NON-CREDIT TCC WRITING CLASSES

A special course examining the business aspect of writing for publications highlights the list of four continuing education writing courses at Tacoma Community College this winter. "The Business of Being a Writer," second in the College's "Printed Page" series, begins Jan. 12.

Ann Roush has an international background in publishing and Rachel Bard has authored many books. Fee for the class, which meets 7-9 p.m. Wednesdays, is $50.

"Poetry Workshop," a new course, welcomes all poets who have been writing for two years or more. Poet Laura Jensen, author of books Bad Boats and this year's Memory, will lead the workshop, which meets 7-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Jan 12. Fee for the class is $45.

Also being offered for the first time is "Writing Your Family History," 1-3 p.m. Mondays. Instructor Sarah Benum will help students preserve their family histories and develop a personal writing style. Fee for this class, which begins Jan. 17, is $25.

"Creative Writing," 12:30-2:30 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Jan. 19, will explore creative ideas in literary form--both fiction and non-fiction. Instructor Gayla Goller has published many articles and stories, and several of her students in earlier creative writing classes have published articles and short stories of their own. Fee for the course is $30.

Registration may be completed in the TCC Admissions Office in Building 2. For more information contact the TCC Office of Continuing Education at 756-5020.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

The Veterans Administration announced that it is seeking applications for its Health Professional Scholarship Program for the 1983 fall school term.

The program, authorized by Congress, provides support for baccalaureate and master's nursing students on a pay-back-in-service basis. The scholarship provides tuition, educational expenses and a monthly stipend with participants agreeing to serve a minimum of two years as a full-time registered nurse in one of VA's 172 hospitals or 226 outpatient clinics.

Six million dollars of scholarship support were awarded during the first year of the program to 342 students from a pool of more than 2,000 eligible applicants. Most participants are third and fourth year baccalaureate nursing students while a few awards were made to master's degree candidates. These master's students are pursuing clinical specialities particularly needed by the VA, including gerontology, medical/surgical, and adult psychiatric/mental health. In 1983-84 school year, master's students in Nursing Service Administration will be eligible to apply for the Scholarship Program.

Applications for the scholarships and information about the program are available from the VA Health Professional Scholarship Program, Office of Academic Affairs, DM&S (14N), 810 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420. Requests for applications may be made to the Scholarship Program between January 3 and May 10, 1983. Completed applications must be submitted to the Scholarship Office no later than June 1, 1983.

TCC TRUSTEES APPROVE PRESIDENTIAL QUALIFICATION STATEMENTS

The Tacoma Community College Board of Trustees yesterday moved another step forward in the search process for the college's next president by approving presidential qualification statements.

Presidential candidates must have completed at least five years successful administrative experience, preferably in a community college and at least a master's degree, doctorate preferred.

Candidates will have to demonstrate ability to: work with all segments of the college staff and students in a way that instills confidence and self-respect; maintain good public understanding and support for the college; maintain poise and stability in pressure situations; delegate authority, evaluate effectiveness, and maintain a system of accountability; develop institutional budgets and implement program assumptions within budget; communicate effectively both orally and in writing, with internal and external college constituencies; work effectively with the Board of Trustees and work with the collective bargaining process.

Applications for the president's position are due Jan. 31, 1983. The screening committee of 12 persons from campus constituents will limit applicants to 12-15 by Feb. 17. The committee will recommend four to six top candidates to the board March 10. Finalists will meet informally with the screening committee and campus community and have formal board interviews during March 22-26. The board is scheduled to offer the position to the top candidate on March 30 and announce their selection at the April 14 meeting.

CONSERVATION CLASSES CONTINUE IN '83

A lot of home conservation improvements can ve do-it-yourself projects. Classes on how to weatherize your home are offered by the Light Division, the Tacoma-Pierce County Energy Information Center and the Washington Energy Extension Service. A calendar of classes for the first six months of 1983 is available by calling the Community/Media Services Office, 383-2471, extension 159, or the Energy Information Center, 593-6295.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY BILL TO INCREASE FUNDS AVAILABLE TO STATE PROJECTS

The job-creating legislation which finances repairs on highways, roads and bridges will boost funds available to transportation improvement projects in Washington State, U.S. Rep. Norm Dicks said Monday.

The last major piece of legislation passed in the 97th Congress will add $53 million to Washington State's current highway budget of $221 million in 1983, he said. Most of the money will be used for the "Interstate 4-R" program, which funds resurfacins, reconstruction, restoration and rehabilitation of interstate highways in Washington state.

"In addition to the much-needed repair work on state roads and bridges," the Congressman said, "the infusion of funds from the 5-cent per gallon gasoline tax will have an immediate impact on umemployment in the state."

He said that Washington State Dept. of Transportation officials estimate the creation of 29000 additional jobs this year as a result of the additional highway funds. Increased funding in the next three years will create about 13,000 more construction-related jobs, Dicks said.

Some funds will so toward new construction projects which the D.O.T. is considering, including the proposed covered addition to Interstate 90 in Seattle and 1-82 in the Tri-Cities area.

The 6th District Congressman, who began his fourth term in the House Monday, said he strongly supported the highway repair bill in the "lame duck" session last month.

RIDEPOOL INCREASES TRANSPORTATION OPTIONS

Ridematching, the initial phase of our Ridepool package, was implemented December 13th. Commuters who want to form car-pools can call our Customer Services Office to register for possible matching with other commuters.

Ridepool Coordinator Daphne Tackett said, "It will take awhile for the program to generate a good supply of interested people, but we are already receiving requests for matching services."

Another aspect of Ridepool is the creation and maintenance of park & ride lots throughout Pierce County. The State of Washington currently operates eight park & ride lots in our service area. Additional parking space is available at four private business or church lots. Daphne plans to increase the number of private businesses and churches that are involved in park & ride lots in 1983.

When Ridepool is fully implemented, Pierce Transit will provide a transportation package to fit most anyone's travel needs in our service area. Daphne encourages all Pierce Transit employees to participate in these options.

"CALL BEFORE YOU DIG"

The Utilities Underground Location Center in Bellevue, Washington, sponsored by Pacific Northwest Bell and four other major utility companies, has announced that a single, toll-free number to "Call Before You Dig" now serves most of Washington, and portions of Oregon & Idaho.
